Spring Leaf and Flower Fall

907 South Fort Street - BUSH GARDENS - Springfield, Missouri

INTRODUCTION

An ancient Persian poet said: "If thou hast two pennies, spend one for bread. With the other, buy hyacinths for thy soul."

This issue of Leaf and Flower comes to you as an effort of ours to make known to the public the stock of trees, shrubs and flowers we carry and too, add to your interest information gathered here and there that will be of value to the grower.

There are none of us but can use the experience of others in our garden, for indeed life is too short to learn by our own experience. Having this conception in mind we feel very sure our little catalogue will prove of value.

Send your name and address to us so that you can be on our mailing list, and we would like to obtain your friend's name too. Will you do this? A post card will be sufficient.

Thanking you we are

Respectfully,

Bush Gardens.

TO PLANT A ROSE

It is a fact there is a right and wrong way to do anything, and its so with planting a rose. Dig the hole larger than the root spread. Form a cone in center, set on center and spread roots to cover all the area possible. In dry weather or when roots are dry, dip them in a batter of soft mud. This is good regardless of weather. This allows the roots to take nourishment quickly.

ROSE ENEMIES

Black spots on the leaves of roses is probably the greatest enemy of the Rose. This is a disease called fungus. This disease cause the leaves first to show black spots and then to fall. This condition if continued, weakens the plant, and of course they look ugly, and if regular care is taken, say each month, with 9 parts sulphur and 1 part arsenate of lead the trouble is avoided. I find it best to spray when the plant is wet after a dew or rain or wet with a sprinkling can. The spray dust adheres better and holds for a longer period of time.

It is known that there are several kinds of fungus diseases. If the sulphur and arsenate of lead dusting fails to cure, use a copper compound.

Ramblers are subject to white mildew spots. The sulphur and arsenate spray will cure this.

Above all, watching and regularity in spraying is most important and bear in mind, "A stitch in time saves nine."

When a stem becomes dead it should be cut below on green part of the stem, allowing no dead stem to remain. If this is not done the stem will continue to die until it strikes the roots. There is no saving of this stem but to cut it off.

Relative to the protection of the rose through winter months: Make a mound of straw, grass or burlap sack around the roots tops and weight with a few stones to keep the wind from blowing the material away.

I find with a climbing rose it is a good idea to encase with a piece of burlap. This hinders the stems from being frozen and the wind from whipping it. Of course protect the roots too. This protection will give your roses a head start in the spring.

See our Special Catalog of the Brownell Sub-zero Roses. These roses we firmly believe are the hardiest roses yet developed. For productivity and continuous flowers it has no leader. Its life too is enduring for many years because it is bred to withstand 17 degrees below zero weather. In long life, in production of flowers it leads all the rest.

KEEPING THE EYES OPEN

The philosopher tells us that all life is in constant danger. That life is competitive and in everlasting ebb and flow. This struggle can be helped if we take due care.

The Rose Shrub and Evergreen are no exception to the philosopher's view. We who have a garden should be ever watchful for any signs of fungus and insect disorder and if detected begin at once to doctor.

When in the garden keep one eye open and this care you give the flower will offer you a grand reward with health and beauty.

The poem of Joyce Kilmer, "Trees," is a treasure or literature this poem will be quoted as long as man loves beauty, many poets love sought their song in nature but none we fell, has surpassed "Trees."

Let us appreciate it together.

TREES

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed
Against the earth's sweet flowering breast;
A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.
But the trees all kept their council
And never a word said they.
Only their sighing from the pine tops
A music of seas far away.

—Lowell

"Of all human pursuits, I hold that the nurseryman and breeder of plants stands the highest."

Thomas A. Edison.
